56 Kaylie Wong	14 Play Date	Acrylic	This acrylic painting depicts animals: a black and white dog, a brown and black dog, and a baby chick wearing a sparkly pink cowboy hat having fun in Colchester's town green, in front of the Old Bacon Academy and the fire station. These animals were inspired by the friends in my family I have here in Colchester and symbolize the strong sense of community and belonging here. The brown dog, which represents the hardworking parents of this town, gazes lovingly at the baby chick, which represents the youth. The black and white dog also represents youth, though it looks up towards the future. Together, they represent the community. Parents raise and motivate their kids to look to the future because the youth are the future of our world.	Li Zhai Art school
